NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS

The Saxophone Symposium is a scholarly, peer-reviewed journal devoted solely to the saxophone. A panel of professional performers, scholars, and pedagogues of the saxophone review all articles submitted for publication. Original, unpublished, research-based submissions in any category are welcome, including saxophone history, literature, pedagogy, jazz studies, contemporary practices, and interdisciplinary areas. Submitting materials for review, such as recordings, books, music, pedagogical materials, and other forms of media pertaining to the saxophone, is also encouraged.

Manuscripts

Manuscripts should be submitted to the editor via email at the address listed below. Include a cover letter that identifies yourself, shows the manuscript title, and certifies the manuscript as your own original work. The Saxophone Symposium will not consider any manuscripts that have been submitted simultaneously to another journal or that have been previously published elsewhere. Please note that submission length is limited to 8,000 words, inclusive of endnotes. In order to facilitate blind review, please remove your name, institutional affiliation, and any other identifying materials from the submitted paper.

Manuscripts should conform to the current edition of the Chicago Manual of Style. In addition to Chicago Manual requirements, authors must include an abstract (maximum length: 250 words) and up to five keywords describing the essential topic and content of the manuscript. Authors are responsible for obtaining permission for reproduction of musical examples from music publishers. Where appropriate, authors will be asked to provide proof of permissions from the appropriate authorities.

Please submit any questions about the review process, publication, and other concerns to the editor.

When submitting a manuscript, please include:

- A cover letter (including your name, the manuscript title, and a declaration of the originality of the manuscript)
- One copy of the manuscript with identifying information removed (your name, institutional affiliation, or any other identifying information should be removed before submission) in .docx format. Please use one-inch margins, double-spaced text, endnote citations, and Times New Roman font throughout.
- Attachment files for tables, figures, and musical examples (if applicable)
- Documentation of permissions for reproduction of musical examples from music publishers (if applicable)
- Documentation of permissions for reproduction of images from copyright holders (if applicable)

- Authors of accepted manuscripts will be required to submit a brief biography (maximum length: 250 words — please do not send unless requested)

Submitting Materials for Review Consideration

If you would like to have a published review of your CD, book, or other materials in the next Symposium, please adhere to the following guidelines for submission:

- Send an initial email to the Coordinating Editor of Reviews, Adrienne Honnold (alhonnold@gmail.com), requesting to have your materials reviewed in the next available edition of the Symposium.
- In your email, include:
  - A cover letter (including your name, email address, a statement indicating that you would like these materials reviewed for publication in The Saxophone Symposium, and a description of the material(s) for review)
  - A copy of the material(s) for review, either as an attachment or as a link

You will receive a confirmation email from the Coordinating Editor of Reviews when your materials are accepted for inclusion in the next journal issue.

NOTE: We have a team of pre-selected writers for reviewing materials, and thus The Saxophone Symposium does not accept unsolicited reviews.

In order to be considered for publication in future volumes, manuscripts are due by December 15 of the preceding calendar year. Materials for review are due by October 15 of the preceding calendar year.
